

Disclosure

The Los Angeles Radiological Society (LARS) has long held the standard that its continuing medical education programs be free of commercial bias.

In accordance with the disclosure policy of LARS as well as standards set forth by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), everyone in a position to control the content of this educational activity has been asked to disclose relevant financial relationships they have with any commercial interest producing health care goods or services (listed below). Such disclosure is not intended to suggest or condone bias in any presentation, but is elicited to provide those attending with information that might be of potential importance to their evaluation of a given talk.

LARS Continuing Education Committee (CEC) has reviewed the disclosed relationships and has communicated its policies regarding disclosure, conflict of interest, content validity, and the definition of CME to each speaker and meeting planner. The CEC believes all presentations in this activity to be free of conflict of interest. However, if you feel that any presentation during this activity promotes a specific proprietary business interest or commercial entity, contains a biased view of therapeutic options, fails to use generic names where appropriate, or contains advertising; please bring this to the attention of the LARS CEC in the space provided for comments on your conference evaluation form.
